(HAUPPAGUE-NY)- Suffolk County Legislators Bill Lindsay and Monica Martinez spoke at today's Suffolk County Legislature Page Program to discuss their experiences as elected officials and what led them to get involved with government.

The Page Program is designed to give students a peek into the life of a legislative aide and a feel for the hard work that goes into providing County services.

"It is refreshing to me to see young people getting involved with the governmental process" said Legis. Lindsay regarding his speech to the Page Program. "It is great that these students have decided to participate in the Page Program and it is important to encourage their peers to form an opinion and express it in the voting booth so that the issues of the next generation are met and well represented.”

Legis. Martinez added, “I congratulate all the young men and women who are participating in the 2016 Legislative Page Program. It’s such a great opportunity for them to become involved and be part of the democratic process.”
