Celebrating S-STEM and CSTEP Achievements

Selden, New York- Suffolk County Legislator Sarah Anker, Chairwoman of the county's Education Committee, honored Suffolk County Community College students at the NSF (National Science Foundation), S-STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) and CSTEP (Collegiate Science and Technology Entry Program) Annual Recognition Ceremony on April 30 at the college's Ammerman campus in Selden.

"Thanks to the college's support of the professors who have instituted CSTEP and S-STEM, many Suffolk County Community College students have received impressive internships and scholarships, and it was an honor to recognize their achievements at the ceremony," said Legislator Anker.
