

SAVE THE DATE

What is the Future for Black girls?

Long Island Convening
April 22-24, 2010

“Moving beyond rhetoric and re-statement of problems regarding African American girls towards community level strategic planning and action.”

Meeting Highlights

A strategic meeting of policymakers, community activists, researchers and practitioners for the purpose of developing and implementing solutions for challenges confronting Black girls and their communities, in the areas of health and economic/community development.

The tentative agenda includes:

A Black Girls Leadership Summit
With a

Keynote Address by

Camara Jones, MD, MPH, PhD
Research Director, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

An evening networking reception
sponsored by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation

Community Voices – What can be the future for Black girls?
Solutions Roundtables and Strategic Planning
Sessions

Registration is now open!

$35 Registration fee includes registration materials and meals.

Registration deadline is April 9, 2010 and registration is on a first come -first served basis.

How to Register:

Please visit: <http://www.stonybrookmedicalcenter.org/publichealth/cphhpr/thinktank>

Mail registration form to: The Center for Public Health and Health Policy Research, Health Sciences Center, Level 3, Room 071 Stony Brook, NY 11794-8338

Contact Jewel Stafford at Jewel.Stafford@stonybrook.edu